Decorations

The decorations for your ballerina birthday party should be pink, white, and gold. You can use streamers, balloons, tablecloths, and centerpieces in these colors. You can also add some ballet-themed decorations, such as tutus, ballet shoes, and ballet posters.

Food

The food for your ballerina birthday party should be both delicious and visually appealing. Here are some ideas:

- Pink lemonade
- White chocolate-covered strawberries

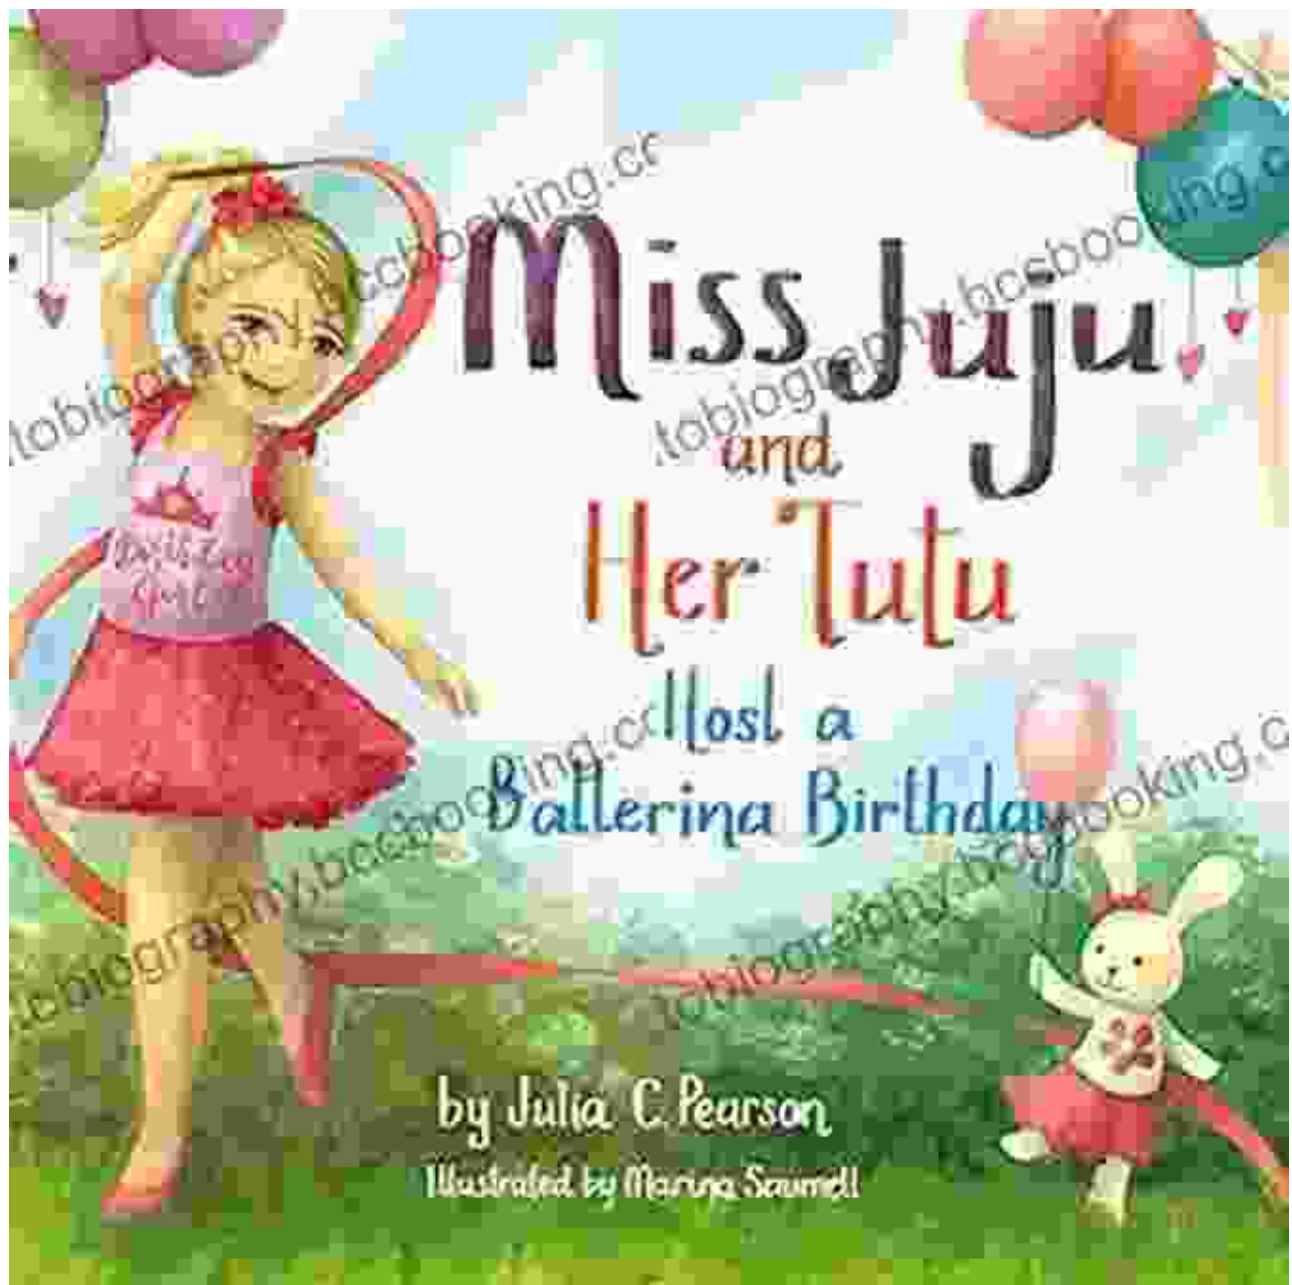

- Goldfish crackers
- Tutu-shaped cookies
- Ballet shoe-shaped cake pops

Games

Here are some games that you can play at your ballerina birthday party:

- Musical tutus: This game is played like musical chairs, but with tutus instead of chairs. When the music stops, the girls must quickly find a tutu to sit on.
- Ballet freeze dance: This game is played like freeze dance, but with ballet moves. When the music stops, the girls must freeze in a ballet pose.
- Pin the tail on the ballerina: This game is played like pin the tail on the donkey, but with a ballerina instead of a donkey.
- Ballerina scavenger hunt: This game is a great way to get the girls moving and exploring. Hide ballet-themed objects around the party area and give the girls clues to find them.

Favors

The favors for your ballerina birthday party should be something that the girls can use and enjoy. Here are some ideas:

- Tutus
- Ballet shoes

- Ballet posters
- Ballet books
- Ballet DVDs

Tips

Here are some tips for hosting a successful ballerina birthday party:

- Send out invitations at least 4 weeks in advance.
- Decorate the party area in a pink, white, and gold theme.
- Serve delicious and visually appealing food.
- Plan some fun and engaging games.
- Provide plenty of favors for the guests.
- Most importantly, have fun and enjoy the party!

With a little planning and preparation, you can host a ballerina birthday party that your little girl will love.
